

Call for SICE2020 Pre-conference Workshops and Tutorials

The Society of Instrument and Control Engineers

SICE2020 Executive Committee

December 2019

Dear colleagues,

We are delighted to invite you to offer a Pre-conference Workshop or Tutorial Session in the SICE Annual Conference 2020, at the Empress Convention Center & Empress Hotel, Chiang Mai, Thailand. The theme of workshops should focus on active and emerging areas of research and technology, in order to provide stimulating ideas for on-going and future topics. Tutorials should provide introduction and foundations on the established fields of research and technology. The session can be half-day or full-day long. We encourage state of the art programs with a high level of interest, impact, creativity, and innovation that will attract a broad audience. Workshops and tutorials focusing on academia-industry partnership and technology transfer are most welcome. The proposals for workshops or tutorials must be accompanied with the following information:

- Type of the session (workshop or tutorial);
- Title of the session
- Main organizer (one person only, address, phone, and email);
- Co-organizers (address and email);
- Statement of objectives and intended audience;
- List of the topics and speakers;

The proposals must be submitted through online paper Submission System given in the website (<https://controls.papercept.net/conferences/scripts/start.pl#SICE20>) by the due date. Upon approval the organizers will be asked to produce and maintain a dedicated workshop/tutorial webpage, which shall be used to disseminate updated information on the workshop/tutorial and also to raise interest from potential additional presenters and participants. The organizers will also be required to collect and integrate workshop/tutorial abstract (A4 size, 1 page) in due time for the production of the SICE 2020 handout.

The participation in a workshop or tutorial requires pre-registration according to the following registration fees depending on whether the registrant is a participant of SICE 2020 Conference.

Registration category	Participants of SICE 2020 Conference	Non-participants of SICE 2020 Conference
Full day registration fees	7,000 JPY	14,000 JPY
Half day registration fees	3,000 JPY	6,000 JPY

The revenue from the participation fees will partly be used to cover the cost for the venue and relevant expenses. It is expected that about 50% of the workshop/tutorial revenue could be allocated for providing honorarium to the workshop/tutorial organizers.

For further questions about preparing and submitting a proposal, please feel free to contact the workshop/Tutorial Co-chair via sice2020-secretariat@sice.or.jp.
